

PARENTAL DECISIONS

Your 12-year-old son is being bullied at school – older boys take away his money and threaten to beat him up if he stops giving them the money.

Your 17-year-old daughter has a boyfriend who is 35. She wants to move out of the house to live with him.

Your 15-year-old son keeps getting into fights with other boys in his class. He has broken one boy's arm.

Your 9-year-old son is getting more and more obese. He eats only sweets, refuses to do any sports, and starts crying when you want him to eat a proper meal.

Your 14-year-old son is very interested in guns and weapons. He wants to join a shooting club.

Your 12-year-old daughter has started wearing very heavy make up and short mini skirts to school.

Your 17-year-old son says he is not going to go to the university. He wants to travel the world and join a Buddhist monastery in Thailand instead.

You have found out that your 13-year-old son has been skipping school and forging your signature on the notes for his teacher.

Your 6-year-old daughter starts asking uncomfortable questions about where babies come from and what happens after people die.

Your 11-year-old son is behind at school and his grades are very low. You see him studying at home but there seem to be no results.